Developing a Portfolio Abstract

- A portfolio is a collection of work samples that you can bring to an interview, send to a prospective employer, or even post online. They can: Provide evidence of work that you've done. Illustrate your skills and abilities.

Developing a Portfolio Introduction

- Portfolio is a website where a person store his or her all professional info like his educational qualification and his skill set. Nowadays people like to share a portfolio link rather than CV or business card, We can share our all our social links like Facebook ,GitHub ,Link-den profile within our portfolio. A portfolio is like a person online world .He can his share his achievements beside his project .Some people share there thought on his portfolio blog section . As a student of CSE ,one must have a portfolio website.

There's a lot of portfolio site out there such as

- Shane - React Personal Portfolio
- Kuon Yagi

Many features would be included in this project, such as

- Home section
